THE CESTUI QUE VIE TRUST MYTH JERICHO eBOOK

ITS NOT A HOLY GRAIL COURT REMEDY

1. Executive Summary

Ecclesia Law has reviewed the "Walls of Jericho" protocol (as detailed in the Jericho-ebook) and categorized it as a misguided and high-risk strategy. While the work attempts to weaponize the Cestui Que Vie (CQV) Act 1666 to establish "living status" and access "secret trust funds," it relies on foundational misunderstandings of trust doctrine, banking mechanics, and court jurisdiction. These methods—characterized by notary declarations and confrontational "court chess"—consistently result in the participant being labeled a vexatious litigant rather than achieving the promised "status recognition".

2. The Misguided Core: The "Holy Grail" Myth

The Jericho work identifies the "Holy Grail of Remedy" as the ability to prove one is "back from the sea" to revest titles and claim "mean profits with interest" from a CQV trust account.

- Ecclesia Law Critique: This premise is an operational fallacy. There is no liquid, redeemable Cestui Que Vie trust account containing hidden funds accessible to the public.
- The Technical Error: The CQV Acts (1666 and 1707) were statutory mechanisms for managing the estates of individuals presumed dead or missing—primarily for the benefit of landlords and the Crown—not a system for creating secret personal bank accounts.
- Ledger vs. Myth: True financial remedy is found through the Recoupment of Abandoned Credit (correcting misreported nominee entries), which is a ledger-based accounting correction, not a "trust collapse" fantasy.

Ecclesia Law is a trading style of MLITR Research LLC, Wyoming, USA.
Ecclesia Law operates exclusively under Attorney-in-Fact mandates granted by its clients through private powers of attorney, trust indentures, fiduciary appointments, and private contracting structures. Ecclesia Law acts as a private legal agent, not as a BAR-regulated public law practice

3. Procedural Failures: The "Status Declaration" Trap

The Jericho protocol relies heavily on notarized statutory declarations of status as a "weapon" to halt claims and pull opponents into a "court of equity" (Chancery).

- Ecclesia Law Critique: While natural and artificial persons are distinct, statutory jurisdiction attaches to the registered identity (the persona) regardless of the natural person's consent.
- The "Meeting of the Minds" Error: The ebook suggests that ignoring a "Declaration of Life" is a breach of contract or "ID theft" by the Crown. In reality, the state's authority is foundational to its sovereignty and does not depend on a private "meeting of the minds" with the citizen.
- Court Rejection: Domestic administrative courts operate on statutory mandates. They lack the standing to recognize or "deal with" a living soul declaration once a claim is active. Attempting to use these "private paperwork" tactics often triggers summary judgments against the defendant.

4. The Danger of "Court Chess"

The Jericho work encourages participants to use "trap questions" designed to force the court into submission, such as asking the judge to "uphold your protected rights" or "act as true trustees".

- Ecclesia Law Critique: This confrontational approach has a 100% failure rate in recognized courts.
- The "Dishonor" Rebound: Treating the court as a "game" or "chess match" results in a "refusal to plea" or a "dishonor". Judges perceive these scripted arguments as a "nuisance" and move directly to sanctions or incarceration for contempt.
- Executor De Son Tort: By attempting to "command" the court or "instruct trustees" without recognized standing, the individual is legally categorized as an unauthorized intermeddler (executor de son tort), which makes them personally liable for the very liabilities they seek to avoid.

5. Jurisdictional Realities: Administrative vs. Equity

The Jericho ebook claims that establishing "living status" automatically moves a matter into a superior jurisdiction (equity/Chancery) where the "legal fiction" has no power.

- Ecclesia Law Critique: While Equity is superior to Law, one cannot simply "self-declare" their way into a Court of Chancery to avoid statutory obligations (like taxes or fines).
- The Correct Pathway: Superior jurisdiction is asserted through the Envoy Protocol, which involves the formal rescission of agency and the occupation of the Office of General Executor before a claim arises. The Jericho approach attempts to "fight" jurisdiction from within a claim, which only confirms the court's authority over the agent.

6. Conclusion

The "Walls of Jericho" book offers a "Matrix escape" that does not exist in law. Its methods are non-operational because they rely on CQV mythology rather than administrative correction. Ecclesia Law warns that participants in these protocols face:

1. Vexatious Litigant Status.
2. Financial Ruin through massive sanctions.
3. Criminal Prosecution for "paper terrorism".

True remedy requires Credit Recoupment for financial ledgers and the Envoy Protocol for jurisdictional standing—avoiding all confrontation with the administrative courts.
